

Places to eat in Queensgate Market, Huddersfield

1. Gallo Grill - Kebabs/burgers (in the corner - don't miss it!)
2. Merry England - Take-away stand
3. Merry England (sit in) - Medieval England experience!
4. Wrappik - Fajitas, wraps, nachos and good coffee!
5. D'Agostinos - Blue Café in the centre of the market - a nice place to sit.
6. Rice and Noodle Thai Café - perhaps the best Thai street food in Huddersfield!

There are also plenty of take-away options to bring into the market, should you wish to sit at the Beach Tree Space opposite the Creative Kirklees stand. A central focal point for the market with a good view of the hyperbolic paraboloid roof!

Things to see in Queensgate Market

Do pop into the Market Gallery to see Ryan Durrant's exhibition The Black Bag while you are there. This is part of an exciting new initiative in Queensgate Market called Temporary Contemporary. Temporary Contemporary is a partnership project with Kirklees Council, Queensgate Market and the School of Art, Design and Architecture at the University of Huddersfield. Its mission is to examine and expand visual culture across the community of Huddersfield and to initiate creative interventions within the town and beyond. Further details here - <https://research.hud.ac.uk/art-design/temporarycontemporary/>